PLAN FRUSTRATED

To Raid U. S. Trenches—Heavy Barrage Put Down by Americans—General Increase in Artillery Activity All Along The American Front.

With The American Army in France, Monday, February 4—German planes raid the American trenches were frustrated early this morning. The American artillerymen put down a heavy barrage in front of the German lines which are believed to have filled with men and officers, awaiting the signal to attack.

It was discovered at a certain hour that the Germans intended to carry out a "silent" raid. Fifteen minutes before the time set all the American guns concentrated their fire where, according to the information the enemy was massed. It is believed heavy casualties were inflicted on the Germans.

There has been a general increase in the artillery activity for the last day or so all along the American front. The Germans are still unable to occupy the first line trenches which were caved in by the American artillery fire. They have now constructed another line of trenches at that point. American patrols have worked their way over No Man's Land and inspected the damaged trenches as well as they could.

The Germans are using gas shells freely and endeavored to envelop one of our battery positions with gas, but without success. They have dropped a number of shells in the roads behind the American lines.

Two men were reported wounded today by shells. The visibility remains bad.

Mrs. Graham Lee, of the county, and Mr. E. P. Lee, of this city, were in Lexington Tuesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Lee's sister, Mrs. Quincy Burgess.

NO CHANGE

Made in Quantity of Wheat Substitutes That Must Be Purchased With Flour—Pounds For Pound Still Required.

Many people in this city and county have read in the newspapers coming from Cincinnati and other points that a change had been made in the amount of wheat substitutes that had to be purchased with flour. During the past few days County Food Administrator Cochran has been besieged by people asking that he make an effort to have the "fifty-fifty" order changed, just as other cities were doing.

Cochran, Food Administrator, Maysville.

Washington requires that pound for pound from list of substitutes be sold with wheat flour. Merchants have had time to secure supplies. Please insist upon full quantity immediately.

SACKETT, Administrator.

People are wasting their time in going to Mr. Cochran asking him to make a change in the order here as he is simply fulfilling the orders of the State and Federal Food Administration. We are assured by Mr. Cochran that as soon as any changes of any kind are made the people will be immediately notified through the press.

Mrs. James Frost, Sr., who fell Saturday morning, fracturing her right shoulder is improving slowly and though confined to her room, she is able to sit up.

Dr. Roy Glehris is now located in offices formerly occupied by Dr. W. C. Crowell in the Powers Building. Office hours 10:30 to 12 a. m.; 1 to 4 p. m. 5-31

BOOTLEGGERS

Given Stiff Fines and Jail Sentences in Police Court Yesterday—One Gets Heavier Sentence Than Other Because Judge Whitaker Believed Him Untruthful.

City Police Court took on the appearance of an infant barroom yesterday when several bootlegging cases were brought up for trial and the evidence, a number of bottles of whiskey, was shown to the court.

The first two cases to come up for trial were those of Walter Lewis, colored, and Henry Gill, who were arrested last Friday afternoon by Chief of Police Ort and Officer Stewart, being charged with having intoxicating liquor in their possession for the purpose of sale in prohibition territory.

The two men purchased the whiskey in Lexington and came in on the L. & N. train as far as Helena Station, where they got off the train and were met by Ike McAllister and Thomas Dryden. Chief Ort received information that they were coming to Maysville and with Officer Stewart went to arrest them. All of them were placed under arrest with the exception of Dryden, who jumped from the buggy and made his escape. Lewis and Gill were placed in jail, while McAllister was placed under bond to appear as a witness when the case came up for trial.

The men were to have been tried last Monday, but the trial was postponed until yesterday on account of the absence of one of the witnesses.

Lewis was given a fine of $100 and a ten days' jail sentence, while Gill was fined $100 and given fifty days' jail sentence. In explaining his action for giving Gill the heavier sentence, Judge Whitaker stated that it was because he did not believe one word Gill said while testifying in his own behalf.

Lewis did not testify and was let off with forty days less. Both the men were defended by Attorney Frank P. O'Donnell.

When the case of William Brown, colored, was called for trial, he being charged with having intoxicating liquor in his possession for the purpose of sale in prohibition territory, his attorney, Frank P. O'Donnell, stated that a jury trial had been asked for and the case was postponed until this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Frank Brewer, a coal heaver, was brought up for trial on a charge of petit larceny, and was given jail sentence of thirty days.

THIN ICE MADE NAVIGATION DIFFICULT

The ferryboat Laurence did not make regular trips yesterday because of the fact that a thin coating of ice had formed on the water the previous night, making navigation difficult. A few more days of cold weather like we have been having would probably have frozen the river solid again as the gorge below is still holding fast and causing the water to flow very slowly here. With warmer weather in sight is thought, however, that the river will open up soon.

BIG SHOW TONIGHT

The Elks' big show, "Keep Off the Grass," will be staged at the Washington Opera House tonight. From all reports this is going to be one of the biggest and best home talent productions given here for some time. The cast includes some of the best talent in the city and most of the leading characters will be remembered for their good work in "A Day at Coney Island," given under the auspices of the Elks last year.

TO BEGIN EXAMINATIONS FRIDAY

The first examination of young men to fill out Mason county's first draft quota will be held in the draft board's headquarters in the basement of the government building on next Friday. The examination will continue on Saturday and Monday, it being thought that the one hundred and fifty men ordered to appear for examination can be examined in that time. Out of this number fifty will be chosen.

COAL ARRIVES

One of the cars of coal ordered recently by County Judge Harry P. Purcell arrived yesterday and was placed on the C. & O. siding at the foot of Limestone street. Many people took advantage of the cheap price at which it was offered and yesterday secured their allotment of 25 bushels.

Although yesterday was County Court day, there was very little going on in town. Only a small number of farmers were in the city and stock sales were very light.

Hon. Thomas D. Slattery, United States District Attorney, of Covington, was here yesterday on legal business.

Dr. Elizabeth Adamson of Fort Plain, N. Y., is here to attend the funeral of her grandmother, Mrs. Lucy M.

HOUSEKEEPERS

Do not fail to attend the War Food Exhibit at the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon from 2 to 6 o'clock. Taste the food and take home the recipes. We must practice food conservation or the war will not be won.

"Unless you are able to send the allies at least 75,000,000 bushels of wheat over and above what you have exported up to January 1 and in addition to the total exported surplus from Canada, I cannot take the responsibility of assuring our people that there will be food enough to win the war."

So let us take advantage of this excellent opportunity to learn how best to employ substitutes for wheat, sugar, meat and lard.

This exhibit is under the auspices of the Home Economics Department, Council of National Defense, Mrs. T. M. Russell, chairman. The food is prepared by Miss Frances Geisel, domestic science expert.

BOMB HURLED

London, February 5—German strikers, seeking the life of the kaiser, threw a bomb against the imperial palace in Berlin, say despatches to the Journal de Geneve, according to advices from Switzerland today. No details of the bombing were given in the Geneva despatches.

Its iron heel today had crushed out practically the last vestige of resistance by the starving, enslaved common people.

Cowed by the threat of the firing squad and fearful for the fate of their women and children through reduction of their already meager rations, the protesting workers had practically all returned to the factories.

Only one isolated case of continued resistance was reported. That was at Jena, where the Tageblatt said a third of them employed there had walked out Saturday.

There is a disposition among officials here to regard the waning of the general strike as only a temporary surcease of the central powers' industrial and political problems.

The work of the extraordinary court-martial at Berlin, in imposing severe penalties on strike leaders, is expected to provide fuel for further trouble.

Secret knowledge in the possession of the British government regarding conditions in Germany may have influenced the uncompromising attitude adopted by the Interallied Council at Versailles.

Food conditions in the central empires are known to be increasingly serious.

The Russian "storehouse" upon which the central empires were counting to relieve their own hunger is still locked—because Leon Trotsky, Russian foreign minister, outmaneuvered both the central empires and the Ukrainians.

Diseases, due to under nourishment, are increasing, it is reported and discontent is evidenced among all classes.

THE DIFFERENT FACTS TO BE REMEMBERED IN COMPARING LINCOLN AND WILSON CABINETS

Since a great many parallels are being drawn just now between the position of President Wilson and his Cabinet and the position of President Lincoln and his Cabinet, it is just as well that there should be no mistake about the facts.

President Lincoln, who entered office with the idea that war might be averted, made up his Cabinet of three former Whigs and four Democrats. He himself had been a Whig. Extreme Republicans regarded the Cabinet with distrust. The Secretary of the Navy, Gideon Welles, was still a Democrat on everything but the slavery question.

The Secretary of the Interior, Caleb B. Smith, was an amiable gentleman and a personal acquaintance of the President, who had served in Congress with him. But he proved to have no great executive capacity, and his tenure of the office was soon terminated for that reason. The Secretary of War, Simon Cameron, was a man of great political influence and had considerable abilities, but they did not lie in the direction of administration. He was patriotic enough, but his vision was narrow, and under him the War Department was not well administered.

In less than a year after his appointment Cameron was obliged to leave the Cabinet. In appointing his successor the President did not appoint a former Whig or a former Democrat. He appointed a man who was still a Democrat and a violent opponent and virulent personal critic of himself. This man, Edwin M. Stanton, had cut the President to the heart with his bitter abuse; he had described him as "the original gorilla," and on one occasion he had insulted the future President openly, refusing to be associated with him in a law case. He had given his reasons for this refusal in the most cutting, blistering terms. As a Democrat he had been associated with the Buchanan wing of the party, the one which Lincoln held in detestation.

He was appointed solely because the President believed him to be possessed of great executive capacity, and in spite of the fact that his personality was disagreeable and offensive. Later on the President had occasion to appoint a commander of the Army of the Potomac. He not only went out of the ranks of his friends and supporters, but he appointed a General who was openly critical of him and who was supposed to have considered the idea of making himself a dictator and relegating the President to obscurity. This General was Joseph Hooker. The President did not appoint Hooker because he relished the language and attitude of that General, but because he thought Hooker would do more toward winning the war than other officers who were more friendly politically and personally to himself.

There can be no actual parallel between conditions in 1861 and conditions today, for the reason that in 1861 Cabinet changes removed the occasion for the particular kind of criticism that is heard today. There was criticism of the Cabinet, but it was plainly seen to be unjust, as it was, therefore, ineffective. There can be no actual parallel, for the further reason that in 1861 the President did not confine the conduct of the war to those personally or politically in agreement with him, and this made impossible much of the criticism which we hear today.—New York Times.

NOW, HOW ABOUT CONGRESS?

Congress, since the beginning of the present session, has been spurring and belaboring the executive department, for the purpose of accelerating our war preparations. Its efforts, on the whole, appear to have borne fruit, despite the dust of partisanship and resentment kicked up. Now there are signs of a natural and probably necessary come-back. The executive department is beginning to apply the spur and whip to congress. The president has called in senate and house leaders and urged them to get busy along the line of constructive legislation.

It is charged, in administrative circles, that congress has done nothing at all in the last two months except criticize and loaf. Not one important measure has been enacted. Up to the beginning of this month, when the president started taking congress in hand, the needed measure broadening the executive power to fix prices had not even been introduced, and nothing had been done about the legislation devised for more effective food control and railroad management. Interest is said to have been at a low ebb at the Capitol building. Time after time, there have not been enough law-makers on hand to make a quorum.

The executive and legislative departments are the right and left arms of our government. One is as necessary as the other for war purposes. Both must work, and they must work together. The nation doesn't want either of them loafing on the job or confining its activity to instructing or obstructing the other. If congress does not get busy with a constructive program of war work, it may soon find itself the center of a blizzard of public criticism.

SAVE, WORK, GIVE

A newspaper reader fears that too much emphasis has been put on the advice to "save" while too little publicity has been given to the equally wise injunctions, without which mere saving is useless. "work" and "give".

There's something in what this reader says. We've talked and read a lot about the need for saving for economy and conservation. Perhaps not so much has been said about work and the fact that, while conserving and saving, every citizen must also speed up his production.

However, the "work" side of the balance hasn't been entirely forgotten. We may not have talked about it so much, but in general "everybody's doing it." Old and young are trying to find the places where they can be of most service to the government or to their own community. And the opportunity, once recognized, is nearly always acted upon.

When it comes to the other word, "give", the American public is showing by deeds, if not by words, that it intends to be generous as well as industrious and thrifty. And there's one sure thing about working and giving, we're going to do a lot of more of both as time goes on. With our sincere purpose to win the war and to shirk no opportunity or obligation that will hasten the victory, there's slight danger of our forgetting any one of the three important little words.

AMERICAN WOMEN IN Y. M. C. A. WAR SERVICE

On February 1, the Young Men's Christian Association had sent 154 American women to France to engage actively in Y. M. C. A. work for the soldiers in Pershing's expeditionary forces, according to an official announcement just received here. In addition to serving Uncle Sam's soldiers in their social, recreational, educational and religious needs while abroad, the Army Y. M. C. A. through the services of these women, is actually mothering the American troops and providing for them the real atmosphere of "home" which they so much need and appreciate.

Many more women have volunteered for Y. M. C. A. war service abroad than can be accepted, it is stated. In the present circumstances, it has required an unusually high type of woman to do this peculiar kind of work among the thousands of boys away from home, many of them for the first time in their lives. Mingling "over there" with the legions of America's finest young manhood, the woman of matronly, motherly qualities has been able to bring to the lonesome, homesick, wounded soldier boy perhaps the greatest comfort he now enjoys.

Margaret Deland, the famous author of "The Awakening of Helen Richie," and other equally well known novels of American life, has recently gone abroad in Y. M. C. A. war service. Mrs. Vincent Astor and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., have been in France for months conducting large hotels and restaurants for American sailors and soldiers under Y. M. C. A. auspices.

Scores of wives of prominent business men of the United States have volunteered for work abroad in the

WAR DEMANDS TRAINING OF MORE NURSES

Thousands of Young Women Are Needed to Fill Ranks of Nurses in Red Cross Service

Thousands of patriotic young women throughout the country are looking for ways in which they can serve the government at the present time.

The Bureau of Nursing of the Lake Division, American Red Cross, Cleveland, points out that there is no form of service open to women more greatly needed than that rendered by the nurses of the country.

The Red Cross Nursing Service—for which most registered nurses are eligible—constitutes the reserve for the army and the navy corps. It is calling for many hundreds of highly qualified nurses for service abroad in our own hospitals and those of our allies. It is also calling many hundreds for service in the base hospitals in our cantonments.

"We have," says Miss Roberts, "nurses enough to meet our present need, but in order to maintain our health standards at home during and after the war and to continue to care for our armies many more must be trained."

"The need for skilled nurses during the next few years will be the greatest the world has ever known and the number of students in the spring classes now being enrolled in the schools for nurses throughout the country should be limited only by the teaching facilities of the schools and by the clinical facilities of the hospitals with which they are connected."

The committee on nursing of the general medical board of the Council of National Defense has encouraged those hospitals possessing sufficient clinical material to increase their facilities for the thorough training of nurses and in many instances this has been done.

Following are some of the advantages in nursing education and some points a young woman should consider in selecting a training school:

1 Nursing education not only prepares for a large variety of professional fields, but is an excellent preparation for home and family life and for public service in many ways. 2 Almost upon enrollment the student begins her service to the community in helping to care for the sick, as a part of her instruction and training.

3 Life in most schools is healthy, wholesome, simple and regular. It is full of vivid human interest, the student sharing in deepest realities of life.

4 The graduate of a good school steps at once into regular professional life and work with an assured livelihood. No weary struggle to get a foothold—to show what she can do. The hospital has carried her over that stage. Her work is ready and waiting for her if she successfully completes her training.

5 The student is at no expense for tuition, board, lodging, laundry, uniform, etc., in the great majority of schools. Only a few schools charge a tuition fee, for preparatory course. The student is also cared for in illness.

Salaries compare favorably with salaries of other trained women. In some fields they are higher than the average. Especially is this true of teaching and administrative work either in institutions or in Public Health Nursing. Opportunities for advancement are many and steadily increasing.

Choice of Training School.

(a) Be careful in choosing a training school. Be sure that its diploma will enable you to register in your state.

(b) That its educational standards are good.

(c) That it offers thorough training in medical, surgical, children's and maternity nursing.

(d) That the housing and living conditions are such as to ensure the health and well-being of students.

(e) That the working conditions are modern and the hours reasonable.

(f) That the general standing of the school and its graduates is good. Where any doubt exists on this point further advice should be sought, through officials of the State Nurses' Association or the State Board of Examiners.

The American Red Cross has provided $125,000 worth of supplies for the relief of sufferers in Guatemala. A party of experienced Red Cross relief workers has also been sent to Guatemala.

Liberty Bread

Soak 1/2 cup of compressed yeast in one-half cup luke-warm water until soft. Boil and mash fine four medium sized potatoes, add one and one-half cups water, one half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons sugar, one pint flour, and the soaked yeast. Mix thoroughly and let stand over night. Stir two cupfuls of corn meal into three cupfuls of boiling water in the double boiler and cook 20 minutes. Cool and stir in one cupful of milk, scalded and cooled to lukewarm, two tablespoons sugar, three tablespoons melted vegetable fat and two tablespoons salt. Beat until light and smooth, stir into the prepared sponge and add enough white flour to knead into a firm, elastic dough. Leave in a covered bowl in a warm place to rise to double its bulk, knead thoroughly, form into loaves, put into well greased pans and let rise to twice their size; bake.

Fifty-Fifty Rolls

One pint sifted flour.
One pint white corn meal.
Two teaspoons baking powder.
One teaspoon salt.
Two tablespoons vegetable fat.
Mix with sweet skim milk or water to a dough just stiff enough to form with the hands into small, pointed rolls. Lay in a well-greased shallow pan and bake in hot oven to a golden brown. These are prime favorites.

Kentucky Corn Muffins (Prize Recipe)

One quart corn meal.
One tablespoon shortening.
One teaspoon salt.

One egg.

One half cup boiling water.
One teaspoon soda.

Pour boiling water over meal, add the melted fat and salt, stir in sufficient sour milk to make a batter about the consistency of cup cake. Beat in the egg, and lastly the soda dissolved in one-fourth cupful of hot water. Fill heated well greased muffin rings two-thirds full and bake in a hot oven.

Alabama Corn Bread (Courtesy of Josephine Conger)

One cupful corn meal.

Two tablespoons fat.

Sift the fat and corn meal into the hot rice. Cool. Add a well beaten egg. Spread one-half inch thick on greased griddle and bake.

Pennsylvania Supper Rolls

One-half cupful of sugar.

One cupful of raised bread sponge.

Two eggs.

One teaspoon salt.

At breakfast time mix the potato, sugar and sponge, beat in the eggs and set to rise till noon. Add the shortening and salt with enough flour to make a soft dough; let rise again until three; form into rolls and let rise until half an hour before supper, put into a moderate oven and bake for 20 minutes.

Potato Short Cake

Two cupfuls mashed potatoes.
One egg.

One-fourth cupful shortening.

Two tablespoons sugar.

One teaspoon salt.

Two teaspoons baking powder.

Flour to make a stiff dough.

Add the egg to the potato, then the shortening and dry ingredients. Roll in two sheets one-half inch thick, butter and place one on top of the other. Bake in a rather hot oven. Serve with syrup, or as a short cake with canned fruit.

HOW A FLY WALKS

You have seen a boy use what he calls a "sucker", a round, flat piece of leather which is soaked in water and flattened against a stone so that all the moisture between the stone and the leather is pressed out. He picks up a brick with a string attached to the leather.

Since there is no air between the leather and the stone, the atmosphere presses the leather so firmly against the stone that the stone can be picked up by the leather.

A fly has suckers on his feet which act very much on the same principle, says Popular Mechanics. As soon as he puts down a foot he automatically squeezes the air out between it and the surface upon which he is walking.

WHAT'S THE REASON? Many Maysville People in Poor Health Without Knowing the Cause.

There are scores of people who drag out a miserable existence without realizing the cause of their suffering. Day after day they are racked with backache and headache; suffer from envyousness, dizziness, weakness, languor and depression. Perhaps the kidneys have fallen behind in their work of filtering the blood and that may be the root of the trouble. Look to your kidneys, assist them in their work—give them the help they need. You can use no more highly recommended remedy than Doan's Kidney Pills—endorsed by people all over the country and by your neighbors in Maysville.

Mrs. W. A. Schatzmann, 605 East Second Street, says: "From the benefit I have received from Doan's Kidney Pills, which I buy at Chamber's Drug Store, I have every reason to recommend them. Whenever my kidneys have been irregular in action or I have suffered from weakness and lameness in the small of my back, I have used Doan's Kidney Pills. They have always proven sufficient to quickly cure and attack."

Mrs. Schatzmann is only one of many Maysville people who have gratefully endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills. If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS, the same that Mrs. Schatzmann uses—the remedy backed by home testimony. 60c all stores. IN NO MAN'S LAND

"My major told me that I was to be ready at three-thirty next morning to accompany him up front to register the guns. In registering guns you take a telephonist and linesmen with you. They lay in a line from the battery to any point you may select as the best from which to observe the enemy's country. This point may be two miles or more in advance of your battery. Your battery is always hidden and out of sight, for fear the enemy should see the flash of the firing; consequently the officer in charge of the battery lays the guns mathematically, but can not observe the effect of his shots. The officer who goes forward can see the target; by telephoning back his corrections, he makes himself the eyes of the officer at the guns."

"It had been raining when we crept out of our kennels to go forward. Everything was dim, and clammy, and spectral. At the hour of dawn one isn't at his bravest.

"We entered a trench. Holes were scooped out in the side of just large enough to shelter a man crouching. Each hole contained a sleeping soldier who looked as dead as the occupant of a catacomb. Some of the holes had been blown in; all you saw of the late occupant was a protruding arm or leg. At best there was a horrible similarity between the dead and the living. It seemed that the walls of the trenches had been built out of corpses, for one recognized the uniforms of Frenchmen and Huns. They were built out of them, though whether by design or accident it was impossible to tell. We came to a group of men, doing some repairing; that part of the trench had evidently been stratified last night. They didn't know where they were, or how far it was to the front-line. We wandered on, still laying in our wire. The colonel of our brigade joined us, and we waded on still laying in in our wire. The colonel of our brigade joined us, and we waded on together.

"The enemy shelling was growing more intense, as was always the way on the Somme when we were bringing out our wounded. A good many of our trenches were directly enflamed; shells burst just behind the parapet, when they didn't burst on it. It was at about this point in my breaking-in that I received a blow on the head—and thanked God for the man who invented the steel helmet.

"All of a sudden we halted, making ourselves as small as could be. In the rapidly thinning mist ahead of us men were moving. They were stretchers-bearers. The odd thing was that they were carrying their wounded away from, instead of toward us. Then it flashed on us that they were Huns. We had wandered into No Man's Land. Almost at that moment we must have been spotted, for shells commenced falling at the end of the trench by which we had entered. Spreading out so as not to attract attention, we commenced to crawl toward the other end.

DEATH THREAT HALTS STRIKE IN GERMANY

Amsterdam, February 4.—The general strike in the central polders is waning, according to German newspapers received here today.

Thousands of workers were reported to have returned to the factories Sunday, although in isolated sections small new walkouts were described.

"On the way out, when we had come to a part of our journey where the tension was relaxed and we could be less cautious, I saw a signaling officer lying asleep under a blackened tree. I called my major's attention to him, saying: 'Look at that silly ass! He'll get something that he does n't want if he lies there much longer.'

"My major turned his head, and said briefly: 'Poor chap, he's got it.'

"Then I saw that his shoulder-blade had burst through his tunic and was protruding. He'd been coming out walking freely and feeling that the danger was over, just as we were when the unlucky shell had caught him. His name must have been written on it our men say when that happens."

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT TOURS BIG CANTONMENTS UNDER Y. M. C. A. AUSPICES

In a tour of four of the six big cantonments in the central military department under Y. M. C. A. auspices during the month of February, former President William H. Taft will present to 200,000 enlisted men and officers his conception of the historic and diplomatic causes of the great war and the part which Americans must play therein. His appearance at Camp Funston, Taylor, Sherman and Custer and at Great Lakes Naval Training Station will be a feature of the Y. M. C. A. program of war education among the soldiers and sailors of the country.

Mr. Taft will at the same time absorb something from army life on his tour of the central department as he is scheduled to be billeted in army quarters in each of the big camps as well as to mess with the officers and enlisted men.

The ex-president will arrive at Camp Funston, Kans., at 2:35 p. m. February 11, from Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark. He will speak to a number of the Y. M. C. A. units of the camps, as well as in the auditorium or in other places that will be reserved for him. Leaving Camp Funston on February 12, Mr. Taft will travel through Kansas City and St. Louis to camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., arriving there February 13.

Men of Camp Sherman will hear Mr. Taft on February 15 and 16 and those of Camp Custer will hear his address, entitled "The Great War," two days later, February 18. Returning to Chicago on February 19, he will then visit the Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, where 25,000 sailors are in the making, delivering his talk a number of times there on February 19 and 20.

Mr. Taft has already spoken to the men of Camp Grant and Camp Dodge.

Ten millions of households have joined in the Food Administration to make our national resources suffice for ourselves, those associated with us in this war, and our armies in France. Observance of these rules will make the pledge good.

SEE LONG FIGHT OVER BILLS

Washington, February 5—Developments today promised indefinite extension of the controversy in the Senate over American war efficiency and the military committee's bills for a war cabinet and munitions director.

Senator Wadsworth, a Republican committee member, delivered a prepared speech in behalf of the proposed legislation, criticizing what he described as utter lack of system and comprehensive planning in the government's war activities. There were no replies today by administration spokesmen, but several expect to speak tomorrow and, in spite of efforts to curtail the agitation, so many senators have indicated their intention to prepare addresses on one side or the other than the discussion probably will continue into next week at least.

Senator Shields, Democrat, and Senator Kirby, a Democratic committee member, plan to speak tomorrow, the former to attack the constitutionality of the committee measures, and the latter to defend the army's operations in a review of the committee's evidence. Senators McKellar, Democrat and Weeks, Republican, both committee members, are framing addresses in support of the legislation.

Further disclosures of the government's military program are expected tomorrow when secretary Baker reappears before the military committee for cross examination.

The secretary's statement to the committee last week, that a half million men would be in France early this year, and another million in readiness to go having been attacked yesterday by Senator Hitchcock as "absolutely preposterous," and "wildly exaggerated" because of lack of shipping. Mr. Baker may give the committee the information on which he based his assertion.

He will be questioned about various phases of his statement, and will be asked to go into detail concerning the reorganization for the War Department, the manufacture of ordnance, the aviation program and other subjects.

Senator Wadsworth, in his address today, declared that the system and not individuals is responsible for present conditions which he said, "equally handicap" the government and preclude business-like teamwork on the part of bureaus and various official

WORKLESS DAYS WILL BE CONTINUED INDEFINITELY

Washington, February 5—The workless Monday will be continued indefinitely.

This was the official admission of the Fuel Administration, following a conference between W. G. McAdoo, railroad director, and H. A. Garfield, fuel administrator, today.

McAdoo had gone into the conference in favor of abandoning the weekly holidays. He was persuaded, however, that the fuel situation was so critical that the heatless Mondays could not be discontinued without causing increased suffering.

Garfield is convinced they must continue and additional embargoes on nonessential freight enforced to relieve the situation.

Three heatless Mondays have been observed so far. There are seven more on the program under Garfield's original order.

Miss Alice Lloyd, of this city, is on the program of the district meeting of the Federation of Women's Clubs to be held in Winchester next Tuesday, February 12. She will speak on "Social Hygiene."

MAKES CHILDREN STRONG

And Invigorates Old People

Any doctor will tell you that the ingredients of Vinol as printed below contain the elements needed to improve the health of delicate children and restore strength to old people.

1. Cod Liver and Beef Peptones, Iron and Manganese Peptones, Iron and Ammonium Citrate, Lime and Soda Glycophosphates, Castorine.

Those who have puny, ailing or run-down children or aged parents may prove this at our expense.

Besides the good it does children and the aged there is nothing like Vinol to restore strength and vitality to weak, nervous women and over-worked, run-down men.

Try it. If you are not entirely satisfied, we will return your money without question; that proves our fairness and your protection. Millions of people have been convinced this way.
